SCHOOL CAMPAIGN STARTS IN SUNDAY.

Seven-Day Tour Will Startle People.

Every County and Town in the State Will be Visited During the Week.

Frankfort, Ky., June 22.—Preparations have been completed for the seven days' whirlwind campaign to be waged throughout the State beginning next Sunday. Superintendent of Public Instruction, J. G. Crabbe, who is directing the campaign, and his entire department have been on the hustling and jumping for many days, and they have seen most of their plans perfected.

The hustling spirit of the department is infectious, and despite the warm and sultry weather some of the other departments in the State House seem to have taken on more progressive strides in keeping with the activities of the Educational Department.

The educational campaign will open on Sunday when every minister in the State has been asked to talk public education from his pulpit. From then on during the remainder of the week there will be oratorical fireworks in every county and school district. Politics will cut no figure in the many educational rallies and many of the best speakers of the two leading political parties have volunteered their services to the cause.

Gov. Willson will hike it through the mountain section of Eastern Kentucky, and probably will have recourse to the saddle to make it tiring. The Executive has not visited this interesting section of the State since his campaign for Governor in 1907.

Then there's Secretary of State Ben Bruner, known among his intimates as "Bristone Ben" who will also speak.

Another speaker who invariably catches the fancy of a crowd in Assistant Attorney General Tom B. McGregor. Mr. McGregor makes a most polished address and makes it entertaining too. He is one of the youngest of the present State officials, and all Western Kentucky is delighted when he mounts the stump.

Senator Bradley Appellate, Judge E. C. O'Rear, Congressman John W. Langley and other well known speakers will be heard during next week.

The following letter, explanatory of the approaching educational campaign has been sent broadcast through the State by the Educational Department here:

"The second Whirlwind Campaign" for better education in Kentucky has been planned for June 27 July 3, and will be bigger better and more thorough than the former campaign. It will cover the entire State both city and county with special reference to the rural community. The campaign will open Sunday June 27, when every minister in the State will be asked to deliver an address on "Public Education in Kentucky," from his own pulpit.

The regular speakers—one hundred strong—will begin active work on Monday, June 28. In nearly every instance each speaker will cover two counties. His work will be reinforced by local speakers and every community will have an opportunity to participate in the great educational movements which are sweeping over Kentucky.

One of the most important events of the campaign in each county will be the "Rally Day." This should be the greatest event in the history of the county. An all-day, open-air meeting with music and marching and special entertainment has been planned to take place in each county seat.

Let every business man—every busy man—every Kentucky woman attend the big meeting. All teachers, Trustees and school children should attend this meeting, and they should be joined by every one who is interested in the children of the Commonwealth. Many of the most noted men in political and official life in Kentucky have been asked to deliver addresses on the occasion and every effort will be made to make it a gala day.

A great conference of the speakers and superintendents has been planned to meet in Frankfort prior to the opening of the campaign, and a complete plan will be made and a uniform plan of action will be decided upon. The entire purpose and scope of the work will be discussed, a uniform plan will be agreed upon and all speakers will be asked to work in unison.

One important change in the plan of the coming campaign will be the shifting of the bombardment from the city to the rural community. Most of the campaign of 1908 was devoted to the cities and small towns while that of 1909, will attempt to reach rural school conditions.

As a rule the cities have good systems of education already and every effort will be made to bring up the standard of the rural school.

John C. Westerfield Dropped Dead.

Mr. John C. Westerfield dropped dead of heart trouble at 7 o'clock Monday morning at his home, at Pleasant Ridge. He had been in good health and his death was entirely unexpected to the family. He was one of the best known citizens of this section of the county and was seventy-six years of age. He was born in Ohio county near the line at Pleasant Ridge and resided in that section all his life. His wife and six children survive. The children are: Dr. A. A. J. C., and Sam Westerfield of Pleasant Ridge, Frank, of Little Rock, Ark., G. D. of Owensboro, and Mrs. Lilla Cox, of Philpot.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the church at Bell's Run and was in charge of the Masons. Burial was in the church cemetery.

TEXT BOOKS ADOPTED FOR KENTUCKY SCHOOLS.

Same as Heretofore Except Princeton Copy many Books—American Co. Successful.

The State School Book Commission awarded to the American Book Company the contract to furnish the school books for the public schools of Kentucky for the next five years. This award was made after canvassing the votes of the county boards on the books and bids. Only one county was missing when the commission composed of Governor Willson, Auditor James Attorney General Breathitt and Clerk of the Court of Appeals Adams met and considered the bids. The commission was in session all day and it was not until late that the computation was completed.

The text books which will be used in the schools are in most instances those now in use. The only changes are the copy books, the contract for which was secured by the Transylvania Printing Company of Lexington and the language and physiology text books. The books adopted are Practical Primer, McGuffey's Series of Readers, Modern Speller, Ray's Arithmetic, Harvey's Grammars, Steps in English Maxwell's Compositions, National Geographies, Willis's Physiology (he was formerly connected with Kentucky University), Peterman's Civil Government, Eclectic Elementary History, Kencaid's History of Kentucky and Complete History.

American Book Company was practically without opposition in the bidding. It was the only book company to offer a complete list of text books. Most of the other big book publishing houses did not enter bids at all, being unable to do so under the present law.—Frankfort News.

Newspapers Town Builders.

Newspapers are town builders, town advertisers, fortune makers, news disseminators and sermon deliverers; a necessity, not a luxury. They must be given the proper support and be maintained. Without them your town would retrograde. Don't patronize them from a charitable standpoint—patronize them because they deliver the goods; that is if they are the right kind.—Breckenridge News.

Mrs. Barnes a State Delegate.

The Central City Argus says: Mrs. E. P. Barnes, who was a delegate from this city to the State convention of Woman's Clubs, at Owensboro, last week, was elected one of the Kentucky delegates to the General Convention of Woman's Clubs.

NEW TAX BILL BEING SHAPED.

Measure Discussed at Meeting at White House.

Exact Terms Will Not be Made Public Until it is All Ready.

Washington, June 22.—Details of the proposed measure for the taxation of net earnings of corporations were arranged last night at the most important conference that has been held at the White House since Mr. Taft assumed the Presidency.

There were present as the President's guests at dinner Attorney General Wickersham and Senator Root, who are charged with the task of drafting the measure; Secretary of State Knox and the Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee; Speaker Cannon, and other Representatives.

For two hours the corporation tax measure, which had been prepared in the form of an amendment to the tariff bill, was viewed from every angle. Many changes from the form in which it was placed were suggested and not a few of these were declared to be wise.

The terms of the measure, as finally agreed upon, although not yet whipped into form, provide that all corporations having capital stock and organized for profit shall pay a tax of 2 per cent. on their net earnings. Corporations coming within that designation will be compelled to make returns to specially named agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Treasury Department, giving the amount of their gross receipts, capital stock, bonded indebtedness and all other visible debts. Separated from these returns, the corporations will be compelled to report the amount of their net receipts, after deducting their general and ordinary running expenses, interest on bonds up to the amount of the capital stock, interest on notes and other forms of tangible indebtedness and any actual loss that may have been incurred in business which loss was not made up by insurance, salvage or other form of return.

The amendment will define in the broadest possible way the character of losses which may be deducted from the net earnings upon which the tax is to be collected. These losses will include bad accounts of a mercantile corporation, losses upon securities held by banks, uncollectible notes and all other forms of bad debts which are usually charged to profit and loss accounts.

As has been stated before, the 2 per cent. tax will apply to all corporations organized for profit, but each corporation will be allowed a $5,000 exemption, which means that the tax will not be collected except upon earnings in excess of $5,000.

Any corporation which makes a false report to an agent of the Bureau of Internal Revenue who has been designated to collect information regarding earnings, or who has made a fraudulent return upon any of the subjects covered by the law will be subjected to a penalty. The amount of this penalty is the only feature of the bill which was not decided. Most of the participants in the conference expressed the opinion that this penalty should range from $1,000 to $10,000 the amount to be fixed by a United States court upon presentation of all the facts connected with such fraudulent terms.

The tax will be collected upon the entire amount of preferred and common stock of every corporation and upon the bonds of a corporation where they exceed the total amount of capital.

It is intended that the bill shall become operative immediately on the passage of the bill. The life of the measure was made indeterminate, instead of two years or some other fixed limitation, such as had been suggested originally. The present year tax will be collectable July 1, 1910, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

George Dovey Dies Suddenly.

Xenia, O., June 19.—George Dovey, president and chief owner of the Boston National League Base Ball

Club, died on a Pennsylvania train near here early today. He was on his way to Cincinnati to buy players. When found he was bleeding profusely from the mouth. He said he was dying and asked that President Herman of the National Commission be notified.

Mr. Dovey formerly lived at Central City and had only a few days previous made his old home a visit. He had always been a Base Ball enthusiast.

Colonel Thomas Jefferson Smith

From time immemorial it has been the custom to designate Kentuckians "Colonel." However, the number to which this title of a right belongs is comparatively few when those so designated are required to show the papers. Hartford has a sure enough Colonel in the person of Mr. or we should say Colonel Thomas Jefferson Smith. We were shown his commission a few days ago, signed by Governor John Young Brown, and John W. Headley, Secretary of State, with the great seal of the Commonwealth attached thereto and dated at Frankfort, Dec., 10th, 1891. The commission appoints Mr. Smith Commissioner General on the staff of the Governor with the rank of Colonel. The commission itself is a thing of beauty and is very highly prized by Colonel Smith. Our citizens through lack of knowledge concerning this high honor which came to one of our citizens, eighteen years ago, have never applied the title to our honored fellow citizen. It is never too late to right a wrong and we suggest that Colonel Smith be properly designated at home and abroad during the remainder of his life.

MANDA.

June 23.—Mrs. Ruben Hunter and son of Linton Ind., who have been visiting relatives in this place for the past week is now visiting her brother Mr. Victor Stewart of Beda.

Rev. T. J. Acton visited his cousins Ira Bozarth and wife Schroeder, yesterday.

NEW SCHOOL LAW CONSTITUTIONAL.

Fiscal Courts Must Levy Taxes Recommend.

Can Not Be Used for Payment of Teachers' Salaries as Some Think.

All important to the advancement of education in Kentucky was the decision handed down by the Court of appeals Saturday in which that tribunal holds the Sullivan school law, enacted by the 1908 Legislature, fully constitutional; that County Boards of Education must make up the budget of expenses for all schools in the counties and present them to the County Fiscal Courts and that the Fiscal Courts shall levy whatever local school taxes the County Boards ask for.

It will be recalled that the last General Assembly enacted a new school law, which is generally known as the Sullivan law, Representative Jere. A. Sullivan, of Richmond, having introduced it. The law made striking and radical changes in the common school system of the State, and it was believed that it met all the requirements of a modern school system for the common schools. In particular the measure provided for local taxation to defray the burden of school expenses exclusive of teachers salaries.

The State provides $3,000,000 a year for its common schools, but the law prescribes that this must be expended for teachers' salaries only.

How to provide for the other incidental expenses of school management including buildings repairs, fuel, etc., was the problem.

Soon after the law went into effect its constitutionality was attacked, and the Fiscal Court of Hopkins county refused to make the local tax levy recommended by the County Board of Education.

The County Board then instituted action in the Christian Circuit Court to compel the Fiscal Court to make the levy. The lower court decided against the County Board but the latter body won out on appeal.

Now every Fiscal Court in the State is obliged under the provisions of the law and the court's decision to make the local school tax levy determined upon by the County Board of Education.

As a result of the operation of the new law estimates are that there will be collected locally for school purposes in the State this year about $2,500,000 as against $180,000 local tax collected for the same purpose last year.

HERBERT.

June 21.—Mr. Joe Hellamy was here Saturday and gave the contract for the new school house to Mr. John Purcell of Whitesville, price $600.00. Mrs. Vida Kosme of Madisonville who has been the guest of her cousin Mrs. Emma Miller for the past week, went to Whitesville Friday.

Mr. Arthur Milligan, Heflin Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Isom Wells Whitesville, visited the family of Henry Milligan Sunday.

Miss Sallie Ford and Mr. George Bruner went to Blackford Saturday.

Mrs. Amanda Stewart has returned from Owensboro where she has been taking treatment for her eyes. She is much improved.

Mr. Will Givens from near Owensboro is the guest of his cousin Mrs. Grant Midkiff.

Miss Eunice Givens of Owensboro is also the guest of Mrs. Midkiff. Mrs. Lena Floyd and son Chester spent several days this week with Mrs. Sallie Floyd.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phillips of Walnut Grove spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Miller.

Mr. Jim Phillips who has been sick several months is out again. Mr. George Barnett had a family reunion Sunday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Goro Lanum and daughter, Jessie, Fordville, Miss Birdie Barnett Deanfield Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hawkins, and children Whitesville, Misses Mattie and Gertrude Barnett of this place.

We are having a big rain here today. Mr. and Mrs. John Stites gave the young people a party Saturday night. Mrs. Emma Evans Whitesville, is the guest of her brother, Mr. Will Crow and family.

Mr. Isaac Crowe who has been seriously ill is greatly improved.

Mr. D. A. Miller and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Wave Bartlett Whitesville Wednesday.

Ashby-Smith Wedding.

A beautiful home wedding was that of Miss Geneva Duvall Ashby and Mr. Everett Andrew Smith, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sallie M. Ashby, near Rockport, Ky., at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Rev. O. M. Shultz of Livermore, performing the ceremony. The house was effectively decorated in green and white, ferns and sweet peas being used.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Lillian Tichenor, the soon to be bride and groom entered the parlor, where a host of relatives and friends had gathered to witness the nuptial rites.

The bride was charming in a beautiful Princess of Crepe de Chine over white satin, trimmed in hand embroidered lace and buttons. She wore a veil of tulle, caught with white sweet peas. Her shoes and hose matched her going-away-gown, which was London Smoke cut three fourths length semi-fitting, trimmed in black satin and buttons.

The bridal party left immediately for Rockport, where they took a train for Red Bay, Alabama, where they will make their home.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, silver and cut glass predominating.

ROCKPORT.

June 22.—Mr. Chas. Cash, and Miss Lizzie Dunn, of this city, were married at Hartford Monday morning. They will reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Howerton, of Central City are visiting Mrs. Howerton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Reid. Paul Landrum is on the sick list.

L. R. Tichenor was in Central City last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell, of Horse Branch are the guests of Mrs. Illies on Long Street.

Misses Louise and Johanna Sullivan, of Sullivan's Landing were in the city Saturday.

"The Wanderer" of Evansville, Ind., passed up Green river Monday with a party of Evansville people on board. They were enroute to the Mammoth Cave.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Landrum were in Melleny Sunday.

Prof. McKinney has returned from Cronwell.

Rockport needs a commercial club—a real live one.

The Ladies of the Baptist church, will give an ice cream supper on the church grounds June 26.

The Olaton Picnic.

Probably more than 1,000 people attended the picnic given here June 19th.

The lowering clouds early Saturday morning threatened to spoil the day, but at an early hour the clouds cleared away and the weather for the rest of the day was as propitious as would have been desired.

The North bound train which arrives here at 7:30 carried a number of persons over to the picnic, as did also the 11 o'clock train.

Perfect order was maintained throughout the day and the picnic grounds were as quiet for those who are rived on the train at 3 p. m. as it was during the forenoon. The only excitement was that caused by a pistol shot at the platform Saturday night where a large crowd were waiting for the train. The shot was fired by some one standing in the crowd and it caused a panic for several minutes.

Murphy and Reed Photographers were on the grounds with their tent. This picnic has broken all previous records in that there was good order, plenty to eat, excellent music and a large attendance.

FRIDAY, JUNE 25.

The tariff may be a local issue, but it has certainly ceased to be a party issue.

A dispatch says a home for habitua drunkards is to be established in Maine. The type setter must have gotten the names of states mixed.

The question before the conference committee, when the hosiery tax comes up, will be whether to reduce the tariff or the length of the hose.

A Florida mob hanged a man already under sentence of death. It was a mere desire to express an emphatic approval of the trial court's action.

In order that the tariff may be lowered, all corporations, big, little, old and young are to be taxed and the return of prosperity is to be deferred indefinitely.

How is the United States to be profited through the fact that Theodore Roosevelt is no longer in the limelight, while Robert M. LaFollette is still on hands?

The government is informed of a new anesthetic that absolutely kills all pain. What is the matter with using a little of it, on the public generally, during the special session of congress?

The effort of the government to solve the question "What is Whiskey," seems likely to pass down the corridors of time unswayed, along with the other new questions "what is a Democrat and what is a Republican."

What has become of the old Democratic principle of tariff for revenue? Has it gotten lost in a mix up with the new fangled theory, every fellow to get the highest possible duty for the products of his own section?

The advertiser who deserves his local paper to encourage some foreign scheme of advertising, which is always disappointing, has no just grounds for complaint when local people patronize Sears & Roebuck and other mail order houses.

Some criticism has been offered on the Roosevelt administration for placing a doctor of medicine in the ranking office of the army. Since we come to think, why not? Isn't the proficiency of the army determined by its capacity to kill?

We have had a good deal of fun out of our Democratic friends in the past, over the question, "What is a Democrat?" In view of the action of certain leading Republican Senators on the tariff question, the conundrum might be easily reversed and the query what is a Republican? propounded.

The death of Mr. D. Ferguson Railroad Commissioner for this district which occurred one day last week, creates a vacancy which will be filled by the governor until the November election at which time a special election will be held to fill out the remaining two years of the term. The district is somewhat Democratic but not hopelessly so as Mr. Jerry Porter was elected in this district in 1905, but was deprived of the position through an error on the part of some election officers in Muhlenburg County who failed to certify his vote from one precinct, and at that time there was no statute which could furnish Mr. Porter a remedy.

We have entered into an arrangement with Mr. John H. Thomas, former editor of this paper, for the publication, from time to time, of a series of articles dealing with the history of Ohio county. These communications will bring out many events connected with pioneers and pioneer days in Ohio county which have not heretofore been published. No person in Ohio county can afford to miss this rare historical treat. The letters will run through probably a year's publication of The Republican. Mr. Thomas is a writer of well known ability and has for a number of years been gathering material for such a series of articles.

Every teacher in the county is expected to attend at least one of these meetings, and to constitute himself a committee of one to see that everybody goes.

J. M. DEWESE,
Supt. Ohio Co., Schools.

A Peculiar Railroad Accident.

One of the most peculiar accidents in railroad traffic that has occurred in this section of the State for some time was that of an I. C. engine on the main line of the road Saturday afternoon. A large rock rolled off of Mulzer's hill a few miles from Horse Branch, as the train dashed by, striking the whistle of the engine center and crushing the blowing apparatus clear off the boiler. The results were that all the steam in the engine escaped and brought the train to a complete stop. An engine was sent from Louisville to take the train on to its destination.

Public Sale.

Pursuant to an agreement of all the heirs of C. R. Campbell, deceased, that the homestead of said decedent be sold to satisfy lien debts and that the estate of said decedent may be settled, I as special agent of all the heirs, will offer for sale at the Court House door in Hartford, Ohio county, Kentucky on Monday, July 5th, 1909, at 2 o'clock p. m., to the highest and best bidder, on six and twelve months time, the homestead of said decedent which lies on the North side of Rough River, adjoining the Fair Ground and contains about 107 acres, well improved and in good state of cultivation.

The purchaser will be required to give bond and approved security immediately after sale and the amounts due the infants, Walter and Annie Campbell shall be held by the purchaser thereof until the respective parties become twenty-one years of age, and interest at the rate of six per cent will be charged on said amounts.

EDUCATIONAL ENLIVING

To Be The Watchword Next Week.

School Notes of Vast Interest to Teachers, Trustees Patrons and Pupils.

Are you going to one of the rallies in Ohio county next week?

It is not only your privilege, but your duty to do so. Why not attend more than one of them?

Which place are you going?

If you are not interested in the educational campaign in Ohio county, you lack that much being a good citizen.

The teacher who fails to attend at least one of the educational rallies next week does not deserve anything better than the smallest part of a consolidated district.

Every wide awake teacher will be found in the audiences greeting the two educational campaigns in Ohio county next week. Trustees are requested to keep a look out for their teachers.

Go, and get all the benefit and receive part of the credit.

At the County teacher's examination at Fordsville, June 18th and 19th there were 42 applicants. Of these two were under the age limit and were taking the examination for practice. Of the remaining 40, twelve obtained first class certificates, eleven obtained second class certificates six obtained third class certificates and the remaining failed. Mrs. J. H. Loyd, nee Miss Nettie Rogers received the highest general average, making 92.71. The others who made first class certificates were: J. W. Petty, Willie Clark, Otis N. Rock, C. K. Carson, Russell Cooper, Oscar Wilson, Leslie Shultz, Lefe Embry, Mae E. Rogers, Jessie Byers and Sadie Hall.

The Superintendent is urging that every office and business house in the towns and villages where the educational rallies are held next week be closed during these speakings. Urgent requests have been sent out to prominent teachers, asking that they co-operate in bringing this about. At all of the places where President Cherry and Supt. Coates speak they should be met by reception committees; the house in which the speakings are held should be decorated and the speakers entertained. A little bit of energy and push on the part of the local teachers, trustees and business people will easily bring this about.

The faculty for the Fordsville graded school for the coming school year will be as follows: Principal, O. L. Shultz; assistant principal, Claude Shultz; Intermediate, J. D. Falls; primary, Corda Fuqua.

The faculty of the Rockport graded school has not yet been completed. S. P. McKenney will be the principal. None of the other teachers have been selected.

The faculty of the Centertown graded school will be J. C. Jackson, principal, Nona Rhodes, assistant.

Contracts for schools between the educational division boards and teachers not yet having certificates might be entered into tentatively. Of course they could not be binding, unless the teacher at a subsequent examination secured a certificate.

State Supt. Crabbe has promised to supply blank contracts through the county superintendent by Saturday, June 26th.

The Court of Appeals has declared the new school law constitutional in its entirety. This puts aside all questions of doubt concerning the new law and its applications. It will remain as it is until changed by a future State Legislature.

Every minister in the State of Kentucky has been invited to deliver a sermon on some educational topic on Sunday, June 27. Every church should be well filled with auditors and dates of the several rallies over the county.

In a letter to Supt. DeWeese, President Cherry has the following to say in reference to his coming lecture: "It is my purpose to give you an inspirational discussion and one that I hope will be a benefit to the community. I shall do my very best. I feel the responsibility and shall put conscience into the effort. I cannot promise you more than this. I desire most earnestly to speak to the adult citizenship. My discussion will not be suitable for children. It considers the logical place of education in a republic. While the discussion is the organic place of education, yet at the same time makes practical application of educational principles and shows that the man who is behind the school house is a patriot behind the flag and that the man who plants a modern school house is a hero who plants the American flag on the Heaven kissed hills of liberty. I hope with all my heart that I shall have an opportunity to speak to the adult citizenship, including lawyers, preachers, physicians, public men, etc."

The catalogue of the Ohio County High School will soon be ready for distribution. Every young man and woman under the age of twenty, who has completed the common school course and resides in the county will be admitted to this school free of tuition.

Prof. O. L. Shultz is spending an entire week in advertising and arranging for the educational rally at Fordsville next Monday. The people of that section seem to be thoroughly awake and aroused to the importance of this meeting and a record breaking asked by the Superintendent to make crowd is assured.

Prof. S. P. McKenney and the graded school board at Rockport, have promised the Superintendent that nothing shall be left undone to make the reception of Supt. Coates at Rockport, June 29th, the greatest occasion in the history of the town.

Prof. J. C. Jackson and the school board of the new graded school at Centertown have been asked by Supt. DeWeese to make elaborate preparations for the meeting to be held at Centertown on the night of June 29th. Only a request is needed and Supt. Coates will meet a record breaking audience at that place.

Beaver Dam is always found at the front in educational matters, therefore Prof. Justus, the board of education and the public generally will make strenuous efforts to have their rally June 30th, the largest in the county.

Vernon M. Crowder and the remainder of the public school teachers in and around Horse Branch have been all local preparations for the speaking at that place on the evening of the 28th of June. A large number of teachers come from Horse Branch voting precinct and by a united effort they can have a large and representative audience at their rally.

Miss Lillian Monroe and trustees, M. M. Bardwell, R. P. Beck and Lewellen Frances have charge of the local rally at the Cherry Speaking on the 28th. A speaker's stand will be erected in the grove near Williams Mines schoolhouse and ample accommodations provided for the very large crowd that is expected. The citizens of these three mining towns are soon to be called on to decide whether or not the three common schools shall be united into a graded school with the census report of 500 pupils in round numbers. The occasion is one of interest to the whole county, but especially is it of interest to this community. Indications point to one of the greatest meetings of the campaign.

The educational campaign will close in Ohio county with a meeting on the night of June 30th, at Cromwell, to be addressed by Supt. Coates. The citizens in and around that enterprising little town have promised to meet Supt. Coates at Beaver Dam, convey him to Cromwell, entertain him, furnish him with a splendid audience and deliver him safe in Beaver Dam again. They will do it.

Every person or guardian in the county having a child under twenty should begin to make inquiries and investigations concerning the county high school.

Let every good citizen of Ohio county do something to forward its interest educationally during the campaign next week.

"Scenes in the Union Depot" a musical farce, was given at court hall last Tuesday evening by the local Lady Macabees, coached by Miss Harriett Jones, of Cleveland, Ohio, was a decided success in every particular. Every person who took part in the play deserves credit and many of them displayed marked ability, although only one week's time was consumed in preparation and some of them had only met for rehearsal twice. Quite a number of good jokes were worked in by the actors which were thoroughly enjoyed by an appreciative audience. The play netted about $35.00 to the Lady Macabee lodge. They desire to express their sincere thanks to the citizens of the town and vicinity who so generously patronized the play.

Mr. J. L. Collins Dead.

Mr. J. L. Collins, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Hartford, died at his residence here last Friday morning of flux. He had been in ill health a long while, but had been seriously sick only a few days before his death. He was born July 10, 1836, and consequently lacked less than a month of being 73 years old. He was married April 1, 1873, to Mrs. Lue Taylor. To this union one son was born, Mr. R. T. Collins, who with his mother survives the deceased.

Mr. Collins was a faithful Confederate soldier in war times. He joined the noted Orphan's Brigade Company C, 9th Kentucky Regiment. In 1861, and served through the whole war between the States. He was in every battle in which his company was engaged and was noted for intrepid conduct and bravery in trying times.

Mr. Collins' funeral was preached by Rev. Virgil Elgin, of the Methodist Church, at the old home place, and there was a large crowd in attendance. Rev. Elgin dwelt upon the life of the deceased in a touching manner. The pall-bearers were ex-Confederate soldiers, as follows: J. W. Ford, W. R. Chapman, W. O. Holbrook, John Chinn, Dudley Ford and Judge L. Reid. Other Confederate veterans present were: Dr. J. S. Morton, C. A. Hudson, Frank Chinn and James Chinn.

Interment was at Oakwood cemetery, where a large crowd gathered to pay their last respects to a tried and true friend, a beloved citizen, and one whom the whole community esteemed and respected.

KINGS LOVE THE WEED.

Most All Rulers Use it Extensively.

If Tobacco be Poisonous, Then Great Rulers Are Committing Slow Suicide.

During the last few days the Sultan of Turkey was shut up in the Yildiz Kiosk he is said to have smoked over thirty cigarettes every hour to "cool his nerves." For years Abdul Hamid has smoked dozens of strong cigarettes every day and it can be said without fear of contradiction that he has been the most ardent devotee of the fragrant weed that was ever seated upon a throne.

King Edward likes cigars, cigarettes and a pipe London Tit-Bits declares. He however, has no liking for American-made cigarettes his favorite being mild Turkish ones. In his young days his majesty smoked cigarettes and nothing else, but now he is more fond of a good cigar than "tobacco wrapped in paper." His every day cigar is said to be specially made for him in Cuba, of the finest tobacco.

Once when the king was ailing out on the yankee prairie during his American and Canadian travels, he produced a cigar and his companions followed his example. "A match, please," said his royal highness. A match! There was but one match between the whole party. The position was tragic, for the world was tearing over the prairies. In order to decide who should attempt to keep the solitary match alight in the wind lot were drawn with blades of grass. The dire responsibility fell upon the king. He lay on the ground and his companions gathered round him with outstretched coats as shelter. The matches were lighted so were all the cigars. Never before or since has the king felt so nervous as when he struck that match in the vast American prairie away from any town or village.

The German emperor smokes cigars and cigarettes out of doors, but when in the privacy of his study he puffs a small wooden pipe of the type favored by the average smoker and costing about half a crown. The kaiser consumes various kinds of tobacco, sometimes a mixture, and his cigars, which come from Cuba, cost about 2 shillings each.

The King of Spain keeps strictly to the cigarette. This is rolled in paper ungummed and requires very careful smoking to keep whole. Alfonso's cigarette is about as peculiar as the cigar which the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria used to smoke. The latter was fitted with a straw tube and had to be held in a candle flame for a minute or two before it could be made to draw.

The Czar of Russia and the Prince of Wales favor the pipe when in private but their smoking implements are of little value. A small pipe of the bulldog type is affected by both of them, and the tobacco they consume is of the common inexpensive kind.

Bismarck was an ardent devotee of the weed, and it was his boast that he consumed over 100,000 cigars in fifty years. Thomas Alva Edison probably holds the record for the number of cigars smoked daily by one man, for he has confessed that, while ten cigars are his normal allowance he consumes double that number when deeply absorbed in work. Edwin Booth, the tragedian, often smoked twenty-five cigars, a day and his dresser used to stand in the wings with a lighted cigar in his hand ready for the actor when he made his exit. Dr. Norman Macleod, a famous Scottish preacher used to keep a box of cigars in his vestry and after service would regale himself with a "puff," much to the horror of his elders.

Tennyson's love for the pipe was proverbial. It was the great poet's son companion, and an Irish city was his favorite. Baskets of clay pipes ready for use were stacked round the walls of his study and as many as 200 were to be found lying loose on the floor. Birds-eye was Tennyson's favorite tobacco.

A Tame Spider.

Many animals, and even insects, are known to be powerfully affected by sound, and are very susceptible to the influence of music that the most timid have frequently approached and even become familiar with man, who as instinct tells them, is their mortal enemy. The following anecdote will offer a striking example of different sentiments in different animals:

A gentleman named Pellisson was secretary to Fouquet minister of finances under Louis XIV., but the affairs of the treasury were so badly conducted that the minister was condemned to perpetual imprisonment and his secretary, Pellisson, was sentenced to five years confinement in the bastille.

During his imprisonment Pellisson who knew the value of time, could not remain idle occupied himself in writing and frequently as a kind of relaxation from study, he would play on the flute. On these occasions he often remarked that a large spider which had made its web in a corner of his room came out of its hole and appeared to listen to the music. Pellisson to encourage it would continue to play and at last the insect became so familiar that it would approach the prisoner and feed in his hand.

This was a great pleasure for Pellisson; he became fond of the insect and thus tamed looked upon it as a companion and found even in such society, a relief from solitude.

The circumstances having come to the knowledge of the jailers, they communicated it to the governor of the bastille, who being a man incapable of sympathy fulfilled but too well the duties of his office, and by his rigorous treatment of the captives rendered imprisonment in that citadel one of the most dreadful punishments that could be inflicted.

Determination to deprive the prisoner of the consolation he had acquired the governor went to his cell and said: "Well, Mr. Pellisson, I hear you have found a companion." "It is true replied he and though we can not converse, we understand each other very well." "But I can hardly believe what I have been told, said the governor, and I should like to be convinced of the truth." Pellisson not suspecting and had intention, immediately called the insect, which came and fed in his hand and suffered itself to be caressed, but the governor, watching an opportunity brushed it off and immediately crushing it under his foot, left the room without saying a word. Pellisson was released from prison a short time after by the king, who restored him to favor and loaded him with honors but he was frequently heard to say that he would never forgive the governor that act of wanton cruelty.

American Girls and Titles.

The responsibility for the present humiliating slave trade in which rich American girls are sold to the titled decadents of England and the Continent is almost wholly the fault of the men of this country. This opinion is afforded only after years of observation and consideration of our social conditions and after a pathological study of American men. The open astonishment and chagrin at this phenomenon would be vastly amusing were it not so pathetic. Our men have a helpless inability to see themselves. Nor is the responsibility of the mother lost sight of for the foreign suitor begins with her, as he does in Europe. She is the outer citadel which must first succumb to his studied charm.

This outer citadel is carried with astonishing ease, as he quickly discovers and for three reasons. The mother is easily dazzled her social foundations do not down sleep in the class to which she almost invariably belongs; her husband has made every dollar of the lure of those millions, without which there would not be this problem to solve. Second the women who see what a given man really is who estimate him at all justly who begin even to understand men's social standards either in this country or Europe are rare indeed. The American mother is clearly out of her depth at the start, as unfit as a child to counsel her daughter. She is not equipped for it. It is not her work.

In the third place, that subtle relationship of sex which European men of any age always have the art of establishing with a woman of whatever age, their attention their quick courtesy when a woman speaks—all this is so absolutely new to the American mother that she becomes hypnotized by it and can do longer distinguish truth from falsity or a mere national point of etiquette from a personal thoughtfulness and delicate tenderness of feeling.—From the Atlantic Monthly.

The Language of the Bar.

"I was to give you an orange," said Judge Foote, of Topeka, to D. G. McGray, "I would simply say, 'I give you this orange,' but should the transaction be entrusted to a lawyer to put in writing, he would adopt this form: 'I hereby assign, grant and convey to you all my interest, right title and advantage of and in said orange, together with its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pits, and all rights and advantage therein, with full power to bite, suck or otherwise eat the same, or give away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pits, any deed or deeds, instruments of any nature or kind whatsoever, to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding.'"

AN ALMOST FORGOTTEN PRESIDENT.

The Administration of James K. Polk One of the Most Important in Our History.

It is a strange fact of history that the fame of President Polk has been greatly obscured and that he has not been remembered as the head of an administration which dealt with events as big as any which have engaged the attention of American statesmen. This is a bit odd when it is realized that he was the first "dark horse" of American politics and defeated the renowned Henry Clay for presidency. It is even more remarkable that in his own time and during the campaign voters should have derisively asked, "Who is James K. Polk?" When the facts are that he was not only one of the enthusiastic supporters of Andrew Jackson, his neighbor and friend but had served in Congress fourteen years, been Speaker of the House of Representatives for two terms and resigned to accept the governorship of Tennessee.

During his administration (1845-1849) he conducted the war with Mexico. He had been elected on the proposition to annex Texas, but President Tyler signed the bill just before Polk assumed office. He concluded the treaty of peace with Mexico which gave this country California, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and parts of Colorado and Wyoming. He settled the Oregon boundary controversy with Great Britain, and saw Iowa, Florida and Wisconsin added to the Union. The independent treasury act and the warehousing act, great features of governmental function at this day, were passed during the time of his occupancy of the White House. He compelled the replacing of the tariff act of 1842, a protective measure, but one based on the principle of tariff for revenue only which remained in operation for eleven years. The Wilson provision was enacted into law during his presidency, and the far-sightedness of his California annexation activity was proved by the discovery of gold in 1849. He entered office with a carefully prepared programme and he carried every item into execution during the one term of his administration. He was the greatest expansionist in American history, for, including Oregon, over 1,200,000 square miles was added to the United States while he was President an area greater than that of the entire country prior to the purchase of Louisiana.

His sense of justice was alert and his strong will was demonstrated when he confronted a powerful Imperialistic sentiment which demanded the entire annexation of Mexico at the close of the war with that country. President Polk refused to heed the cry and the opinions of his cabinet and ordered that the American flag be hauled down from the capital of the conquered territory. This section tended to undermine his popularity, and there are many writers, including Colonel Roosevelt, who insist that he was among the smallest of the men filling the highest office in the gift of the people of this nation. The late James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years of Congress," says that Mr. Polk was by singular fortune placed at the head of one of the most vigorous and important administrations in the history of the government.

In Memory of Little Clara Maree Foster.

Who departed this life June 8th, 1909 age fourteen months. Darling Clara, she has left us; left us, yes, for evermore; but we hope to meet our loved one on that bright and happy shore. There was an angel baad in heaven that was not quite complete, so God took our darling Clara to fill the vacant seat. Through all pain at times she'd smile, a smile of heavenly birth; and when the angel called her home, she smiled farewell to earth. Heaven retaineth now our treasure, earth the lonely casket keeps, and the sunbeams long to linger, where our little darling sleeps.

Dear little hands, we miss them so; all through the day wherever we go, all through the night how lonely it seems, for no little hands wake us out of our dreams. We miss them all through the weary hours we miss them as others do sunshine and flowers daytime or nighttime wherever we go, dear little hands, we miss them so. The little crib is empty now, the little clothes laid by; a mother's hope, a father's joy in death's arm doth lie. Go little pilgrim, to thy home on yonder blissful shore; we miss thee here, but soon will come where thou hast gone before. Thy gentle voice now has hushed thy warm, true heart is still and on thy young and innocent brow is resting death's cold chill. Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast, we have kissed thy lonely brow, and in our aching hearts we know we have no darling now. Weep not dear parents, for "little Clara" but prepare to meet her, in Heaven, where no farewell tears are shed.

Brown Family Discovers Hell.

The Brown family, composed of twelve persons, was in this city yesterday and preached holiness on the court corner. They entreated the people to embrace sanctification. They spoke of being in Cairo and said that if there was a hell on earth it was at Cairo, and added that Henderson was half way.

The band is composed of two families and they hail from Ohio county, but of late years have been in Paducah. They have been on the road eight years. They left yesterday evening for Corydon.—Henderson Gleaner.

HARRIMAN MAY HAVE ANOTHER COMPETITOR.

Pacific Mail Withdrawal Would Give Government Ocean-To-Ocean Line.

Government ownership of a complete transportation line between New York and San Francisco, which would make Uncle Sam the direct competitor of the transcontinental railroads, is a probability of the near future. If the differences between the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, one of the Harriman properties, and the Panama Railroad, the Government controlled corporation, are not satisfactorily adjusted.

Because it contends that it is not getting a fair share of the through freight rate between New York and San Francisco, the Pacific Mail has served notice on the Panama Railroad that next August it will withdraw from the traffic agreement by which it operates a line of steamers from San Francisco to the Isthmus.

It has been announced, however, by a high official of the Panama Railroad that if the Pacific Mail withdraws its steamships the Government will inaugurate a line to replace it, either building or chartering a fleet of boats for the purpose. Such action would give the Government control and operation of the entire Panama route from New York to San Francisco. Already the Government owns the Panama Railroad, and through it a line of steamers between here and Colon. The establishment of Government steamers from Panama to San Francisco would complete the chain.

It is a question if the powerful influences at Washington, which are solidly aligned against anything in the way of Government ownership, will allow matters to come to the point where the Pacific Mail will withdraw its steamers from the Pacific run. The granting of a more liberal share of rates to the Pacific Mail probably would be preferred to an emergency in which the Government would be forced to become a competitor of the transcontinental trunk lines. Those who favor the Government ownership idea declare, on the other hand, that the present administration of the Panama Railroad and steamship line from New York to Colon is making them pay and that there is no reason why a Government line from Panama to San Francisco in place of the Pacific Mail steamers should not yield similar profits.

In the District Court of the United States for the western district of Kentucky—Owensboro division.

In the matter of Jasper S. Reynolds bankrupt.

As trustee of the above estate, I will on Friday, the 2nd day of July, 1909 at 1 o'clock p. m., in front of Commercial Hotel on Main street in Fordsville, Ohio County, Ky., sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder the following described property, to-wit:

1. A house and lot in Fordsville, Ohio County, Kentucky, consisting of a house and one acre of ground, bounded on the North by Ed Strother; on the East by Hartford Street, on the South by J. W. Cheek; on the West by the Brown property. 2. A house and lot in Fordsville, Ohio County, Ky., bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone, J. R. Walker's N. E. corner; thence running in a South-westerly direction with Walker's line 108 feet to a stone; thence in a South-easterly direction 129 feet to a stone; thence in a Northeasterly direction 190 feet to a stone on Sycamore Street thence 117 feet to the beginning.

3. One house and lot in Fordsville, Ohio county, Kentucky, situated on the East side of Walnut Street and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone in the center of said street, and corner to Morris Wilson; thence with said street S. 53 W. 96 feet to a stone, corner to John Wadding; thence W. 37 E. 173 feet to a stone; thence N. 53 E. 134 feet to a stone in Morris Wilson's line, 35 feet West of his corner; thence with his line N. 52 W. 173 to the beginning, containing one-half acre, and being the same conveyed to J. S. Reynolds by T. W. Brown and wife, Feb. 27th, 1906; as shown by deed of record in Ohio county Clerk's office in Deed Book No. 15, at page 15

Also a number of judgments, notes and accounts belonging to said estate. The first mentioned house and lot will be sold $1,000.00 cash, and the balance in six months; the other two lots will be sold on a credit of six months. The purchasers will be required to execute bond with good security for all deferred payments, bearing interest from date of sale with a lien retained upon the property as additional security; but all purchasers will be given the privilege of paying cash if they so desire, or they may pay the bonds before maturity by paying interest upon same to date of payment.

The judgments, notes and accounts will be sold for cash.

All of said property will be sold free of incumbrances, and the liens, if any, on said property, will be transferred to the proceeds of the sale. All sales will be subject to the approval of the court.

The Seasons.

SPRING— Sweet vernal days in tender green With singing birds and blooming flowers— All nature's full of hope and gladness. In bright sunshine and refreshing showers. The balmy breezes are gently blowing, And cow bells in the woodland ring But soon these vernal days are past For time is ever on the wing.

SUMMER— Gladly sing of the "good old summer time" When apples, peaches and melons are here; But the burning heat from the noon-day sun Brings a longing for autumn so dear;

But many are the charms of summer, When all is bright and gay— The breezes waft notes of joyous melody, Throughout each long sunny day.

AUTUMN— Beautiful days! sweet autumn time! When leaves are crimson, golden and brown; The golden-rod is blooming here and there, And ripened nuts come dropping down,

Oh, sad, sweet season of the year, Fade not so quickly away— The "stinging" frost touches the fragrant flower— The "gold soon turns to gray."

WINTER— The hand of desolation's upon hill and plain— Trees have lost their foliage bright; But to skate on ice and throw snow balls,

Is the school-boys' great delight. Merily, the snow birds twitter. Gently, the snow flakes fall; And in the quiet hours of evening, Praises go up to the maker of all.

So, on and on the changing seasons pass— How precious each fleeting hour! There's no time to spend in idleness, For life is fading as the flower.

THE NATION TIME TELLING.

Wonderful Clocks Flash
Noon Over 900,000 Miles.

Which Reach Every Important
Point in the United States
Simultaneously.

A few minutes before 12 o'clock noon every day in the year a young man walks into a certain room of the main building at the Naval Observatory, which is set up on a hill in the northwestern part of the District of Columbia. He glances at the various clocks in the room and then goes over to a table which is covered with electric apparatus.

He watches the clocks to his left closely and waits for the hands to reach five minutes of 12. As the second hand approaches the 60 on the dial he prepares to shift a switch. The clock is so finely adjusted that when the second hand points to 60 it exactly marks the beginning of a new minute.

As it touches the 60 the switches are thrown on. That starts a signal that goes out instantaneously over 900,000 miles of telegraph lines. In Washington, New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Newport, Baltimore, Newport News, Norfolk, Savannah, New Orleans, Key West, Galveston, Chicago and elsewhere the time balls go up on their poles. People know that it is five minutes before noon, Washington time.

The clock which keeps the time in the observatory ticks on. With each tick there is a contact of electric points. A circuit is closed and an instrument on the table similar in appearance to a telegraph sounder ticks away loudly.

It goes on to the twenty-ninth second, then skips one tick, then resumes its steady sounding until the first five seconds, then there is another gap. These gaps are for the purpose of giving listeners at other ends of the great system of wires a chance to know what part of the minute the clock is on. So it goes up to the last minute.

At the twenty-ninth second there is again the skipping of one second. Finally the clock gets around to the fiftieth second. Then the circuit remains open for 10 seconds. There is silence all along the telegraph wires.

At the other ends, where there are time balls or merely train operators, the long pause indicates that noon is almost there. The second hand makes on to ward 60 and finally reaches the mark. Then there is another click. In about a second the sounder is down and that tells hundreds of thousands of people that it is noon in Washington, that the Naval Observatory says so, and that the Naval Observatory is now one of the best time keeping institutions in the United States.

It is a wonderful operation, this getting the time and highly technical. Finally adjusted clocks, chronographs and other instruments of great value are used, and the taking and recording of the time has reached a point where the human equation is practically eliminated.

The results obtained are of great value, particularly to mariners. The time is not only flashed to hundreds of points in the United States, but it is sent far out to sea by wireless. A cable carries the flash to Havana, another sends it down to Panama and Callao, Peru.

The mean time is determined by astronomical observations. When certain stars pass the seventy-fifth meridian, called the meridian of Washington, it is certain time. The operator watches for the stars through a telescope, the field of which is covered with fine wires.

As the stars reach a certain point in transit the operator presses a key in his hand. A contact is made and recorded on a chronograph. The chronograph consists of a cylinder covered with paper. A fountain pen rests on the paper. It is held by an arm attached to the mechanism. The cylinder revolves once a minute and the pen moves along the surface of the paper, making a spiral line.

A sidereal clock of the finest make is running in a vault underneath the observatory. With each tick of the clock there is a contact of two points. These two points are attached to wires that lead to an electromagnet attached to the arm that holds the pen of the chronograph. The clock is so adjusted that each minute the pen jumps to one side. Consequently there is a break in the line.

There are other breaks, too, when the observer watches the stars cross the lines in the field of the telescope. The mean time thus recorded for each star after being corrected for errors, is the clock time of the star's transit. Whatever difference there is between this clock time and the sidereal time marked by the transit of the stars is the error of the clock. From these astronomical observations the sidereal time is obtained. The error amounts to but little, rarely being more than from five hundredths to ten one-hundredths of a second.

The sidereal clocks are wonderful pieces of work. They were made in Berlin by a man named Riefler.

There are two clocks which may be used in automatically sending out the time, so if one should break down the other would be ready for the emergency. These clocks are made accurate by comparison with the sidereal clocks.

The time of sending a flash over the wires is practically nothing. A flash has reached Greenwich, England, in three tenths of a second.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Bad For The Grain.

Joe Ryan, the Chicago story-teller, was in Hot Springs Ark., a short time ago, and met a coal operator who told him a story of two dealers at a gambling house there who were invited to go out and shoot ducks. They had never shot anything, these dealers, but craps and patrons, and they were nervous and not exactly up in what they were to do.

They went to a hunting hut on the Illinois River and were told they were to rise early in the morning and go out after the ducks. They were so excited they couldn't sleep, and about midnight one of them went out in front of the hut and saw a large number of wooden decoy ducks floating in the water. He rushed back, got his gun and began firing at the decoys.

His companion started by the sound came out and took one look. Then he screamed: "Stop it, stop it, you lunatic! You're shooting the boosters."

Sheriff's Sale.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky, to the Sheriff of Ohio county, greeting:

We command you that you expose to sale the estate of J. S. Verrees, do-wit: A certain lot lying and being in the town of Hartford, Ky., and designated on the plat of the East Addition to said town, which plat is of record in Deed Book No. 31, on page 233, and which lot in said plat is designated lot No. 2, in Block "S," and being the same lot conveyed to Jas. S. Verrees by the Cassa Realty Company, as is evidenced by deed of record in the office aforesaid in Deed Book No. 36, on page 232, which, according to our commands, you have taken into your hands, and which still remains in your hands unsold, as you have certified to the Judge of our Ohio Circuit Court, to satisfy Butler Bros., the sum of $62.54 with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum, from the 19th day of October, 1908, until paid. Also, the sum of $12.15 which in the same Court was adjudged to Butler Bros., for their costs in that behalf expended, whereof Butler Bros. hath recovered Execution against the said James S. Verrees, by virtue of a judgment of the Ohio Circuit Court, and that you have the said sums of money before the Judge of our said Court, at the Court House in Hartford, Ky., on the Saturday succeeding the first Monday in July, next to satisfy the said Plaintiff's debt, interest, and cost aforesaid, and have then and there this writ.

Witness E. G. Barrass, Clerk of our said Court, at the Court House aforesaid, this 3rd day of June, 1909.
E. G. BARRASS, Clerk.

VICTORY.

Left Over From Last Week.

June 16.—As I have not seen any letter from here I thought I would write some.

Health in this community is reasonably good.

Some orchards in this neighborhood have plenty of fruit while others are an entire failure.

The basket dinner at Schroeder school house Sunday was largely attended, a good dinner, and two sermons by Bro. Joe Acton.

Mr. J. W. Moseley and family were the guest of Mr. J. H. Thomas Sunday, also Mr. Richard Duke of Horton is visiting Mr. J. H. Thomas, this week.

Misses Ida Moseley Ollie Thomas and Eunice Lee, Messrs. Ira Allen Ballard and Eugene Lauterwasser were the guests of Miss Rollie and Jennie McDowell Sunday afternoon.

Mr. J. H. Thomas is quite a marksman having killed two squirrels at one shot Saturday.

Next Sunday is regular preaching day at Bethel lets all go.

SUCCESS OF WRIGHT BROS.'

Due to Their Sister, Who Believed Man Could Fly.

She Developed the Theory and They Put it into Practice.

Without meaning to detract in any way from the greatness of Wilbur and Orville Wright, the airship men, it can be claimed that but for a woman they would to-day probably be repairing bicycles or automobiles for a living, unknown and unsung. That woman is their sister, Miss Catharine Wright, who has recently returned home with them after enjoying the favor of Kings, Presidents and Princes on the continent.

There is no prettier story than the devotion of the members of the Wright family each to the other. There were five children—four boys and a girl. One of the boys left home early and now resides in Kansas. Another became a bookkeeper married and had a family of his own to look after. The sister fitted herself for teaching and secured a place in the public schools of Dayton, Ohio. Wilbur and Orville remained at home with their parents and this sister. About the time the two brothers got through school the bicycle craze was at its height and they engaged in bicycle repairing as a business.

It was while conducting this business that they began working upon a machine which developed into the flying machine. Their original idea was to make a toy, a sort of aerial toboggan upon which a fellow could have fun. They constructed a plane of that kind and found that so long as it moved forward it would support them. Then the idea of attaching a motor to it and driving it forward entered their minds.

It was at this critical period in their careers that the aid of the sister was sought. She had taken an interest in the gliding machine, but when they began talking about flying machines she grew enthusiastic. Right away Wilbur and Orville Wright with the aid of their sister, took up the serious study of aerodynamics. They read everything printed upon the subject, the sister ordering the books for them as they learned of the volumes that had appeared. But they did not believe everything they read in the books, and that was their salvation, in a sense.

Miss Wright made the calculations, and her brothers made the experiments. The three worked together. Before any demonstration was made, before her brothers had tested the machine they were building, Miss Wright knew that it was possible for man to fly. She was the first woman in the world to know it positively. She knew it because she herself had made the calculations. She was willing to stake what little money she had saved from her salary as a school teacher along with the smaller amount her brothers had saved, upon the outcome of the device to be made according to her calculations. She staked it and she won.

When the machine was completed and was found to be a success and it became desirable to get in touch with the nations of the world, it was Catharine Wright who brought the aeroplane to the attention of the men who would have to be dealt with. The letters which the representatives of foreign Governments received were written by this woman in the name of her brothers.

All this time Miss Wright was going daily to the schoolroom. Even their neighbors did not know she took any interest in the flying machine. They knew that it was characteristic of the Wrights to be devoted to one another. But they did not know that this patient schoolteacher had mastered the intricacies of the air and that she had been in correspondence with Governments, carrying on the promotion end of the flying machine.

Even after the Wright aeroplane had become famous and her brothers were demonstrating it to the world, Miss Wright continued her occupation of teaching. It was not until Orville Wright met with the accident at Ft. Meyer, which came near costing him his life, that she gave up her position and hastened to him. She remained until he was able to travel, took him home nursed him to health, and accompanied him on his recent trip to France.

Miss Wright has always been modest and retiring. In the schoolroom she was popular, despite the fact she was exacting. And she is one woman who has proved that she could keep a secret.

Home and Country.

Youngster, let that show you what it is to be without a family, without a home and without a country. And if you are ever tempted to say a word or do a thing that shall put a bar between you and your family, your home, and your country, pray God in His mercy to take you that instant home to His own heaven. Think of your home, boy; let it be nearer and nearer to your thought the farther you have to travel from it and rush back to it, when you are free, as that poor black slave is doing now.

And for your country, boy (the words rattled in his throat,) and for that flag (and he pointed to the ship) never dream a dream but of serving her as she bids you, though the service carry you through a thousand hells. No matter what happens to you, no matter who flatters you or who abuses you, never look at another flag, never let a night pass but you pray God to bless that flag.

Remember, boy, that behind all these men you have to do with, behind officers, and Government and people even, there is the Country Itself—your Country—and that you belong to her as you belong to your own mother. Stand by her, boy, as you would stand by your mother if those devils that had got hold of her to-day.

BRANCH BANKS AGAINST PUBLIC.

They Cannot be Operated, Declares the Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., June 15.—The judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of Secretary of State Bremer against the Citizens' Bank of Shelbyville was reversed by the Court of Appeals today and remanded to the lower court to dismiss the petition.

The question presented was the right of banking institutions to operate branch banks. The court holds that they cannot do so. It says:

We believe that safe and conservative banking methods the protection of the public, the security of depositors and the interests of the stockholders all demand that banks shall have only one place at which to carry on the business of banking, by discounting and negotiating notes, drafts, bills of exchange and other evidence of debts and purchasing bonds, receiving deposits and allowing interest thereon, buying and selling exchanges and lending money.

To legalize by judicial construction a departure from this course would soon result in failure that would do infinite harm to the banking interests of the State and bring disaster to numbers of innocent people.

Minutes of School Improvement League.

Semi-monthly meeting convened Friday evening, June 11, 1909, at West Noe creek. Attendance good. Interest continues to increase towards the moving forward of this great educational purpose. House called to order by Pres. J. P. Foster. Singing of hymn "Not Made With Hands" was followed by roll-call with showing of 5 officers present, 1 absent, 11 members present, 17 absent. Declarations, readings, impromptus and stump speeches were the feature of the hour previous to recess.

House was called to order again. There was singing of that old yet new hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," followed by a "Word Lecture" from the President. Then the best came near the last in the way of a speech from our worthy visitor, Prof. W. R. Carson, former instructor of West Noe creek school. His was a fine talk and in a plain, impressive way made known the purpose and results of a School Improvement League. A Query Box with its many sorts of questions proved helpful and interesting. Dismissed to meet again June 25, 1909, at 8 p. m.
BELVA L. McCORMICK, Sec'y.

Work for Miners.

Kentucky coal operators will soon be enjoying big business again, notwithstanding the fact that this is the time of the year when the coal business is dull. The operators, it is said have made big contracts with the Illinois Central railroad, and it will require considerable time to fill them. In addition, heavy shipments of coal are to be made to Panama by Kentucky operators, and the outlook is bright for big business. The mines along the line of the Illinois Central railroad are now working less than half time, but the men will be given full time when work on the new contracts begin.—Louisville Times.

JULY 30 DIXIE DAY.

At the Alaska--Yukon
Pacific Exposition.

Seattle Has Been a Veritable
Carnival Since the Expo.
Opened.

Seattle, Wash., June 25.—The opening of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition has turned the city of Seattle into a veritable carnival. The enormous crowd of out-of-town visitors attracted by the formal opening of the fair seems both to break away from the great north-west holiday, and the entire city has taken upon its shoulders the duties of host.

Contrary to the history of former expositions, there has been no perceptible decrease in daily attendance. The first five days have attracted thirty thousand more visitors than was done by the Jamestown and Portland expositions in the entire first month. This is easily understood however, once the beauties of the fair and the surrounding are seen.

Every day of the four and a half months of the season will be marked by special state, national, county, society and city events and the programmes arranged provide for a magnificent series of public entertainments. All through the summer, constant out-door athletic and aquatic events will be presented and aerial navigations will show the latest type of machines and inventions for above-the-earth travel. The musical features are the very best that can be procured, and the bands of Emmet Ellory's and Liberator's organizations will give concerts daily until the exposition closes. An elaborate concert programme has been prepared, and many of the most noted singers of Europe and America are engaged for concerts covering the entire season.

The immense natural amphitheatre with a seating capacity of 15,000 makes a perfect place for great open air meetings, and its location on the shores of Lake Washington, among the towering firs commands an unobstructed view of the snow-capped Cascades and Olympic mountain range. The stadium will be constantly used for the various athletic meets and events, and the four-lap oval is bordered with stands seating 25,000 spectators.

The exposition city is composed of 187 buildings, some of them permanent construction, and many of wood and staff. It covers an area of 286 acres and contains 11 miles of paved walks and streets. The cost of construction is $10,000,000, and the exhibits displayed represents a value of $50,000,000. Every country of importance is represented the center of the exposition stage being occupied by Alaska, the Yukon territory, Hawaii, and the Philippines.

The United States Government has made the most thorough demonstration of the various departments that has ever been presented, and the fair north has gathered the most valuable and instructive collections of products and resources yet collected for exposition purposes.

On July 30th, "Dixie Day" will mark the top notch of the exposition. Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee and Louisiana will have swing of the entire works. The date selected for the occasion is the most perfect time of the year in Puget Sound, and ideal weather may be depended upon. Seldom does the mercury rise above 80 degrees in Seattle, and bracing salt air from the ocean and inland sea stimulate the spectator to aggressive rather than passive enjoyment.

Alone in Saw Mill at Midnight untroubled of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman, at Baaner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. "After using one bottle he writes, 'I went back to work as well as ever.' Severe Colds, stubborn Coughs, inflamed throats and sore lungs Hemorrhages, Croup and Whooping Cough got quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by all druggists, etc."
